Maria Leonor Zepeda Fuentes was born in Santiago, Chile, and has lived in Miami for the last three decades. From an early age she showed a great interest for art in all its forms. Through the years, she explored and experimented with music, song writing, sculpture, stained glass, floral arrangements, painting, and drawing; particularly portraits. Curious and creative in essence, she has developed her talent in multiple mixed media techniques, including the innovating hand-embroidered portrait painting; one of her latest interests. An empathetic artist with a great consciousness for the environment, she incorporates everyday waste products into exciting multimedia art.
